Fine Arts Study Abroad Program in Siena

Students in the new Brandeis in Siena summer program spent five weeks immersed in the history and artwork of the Renaissance while living in the Tuscan city known as a jewel of preservation.

Classes in studio art (taught by Joseph Wardwell, professor of painting at Brandeis) and in the history of art and architecture (taught by Roberto Fineschi of the Siena Art Institute) support discovery, creation and innovation, offering greater dimension and depth to the fields of studio art and art history at Brandeis.

“This was an amazing opportunity for our students, to be able to study and create art in such a vibrant Italian community,” says Wardwell. “Steeped in tradition and rich in culture, Siena is an ideal site for this program, and the students clearly benefited from this unique setting.”
