

Child Care Resources: Child Care in the Brandeis Area

Below you'll find a list of resources to aid you in your search for child care services in the Brandeis area. Please be aware that this list is meant to act as a starting point for you, and that you will need to research specific Child Care providers to meet your particular needs on your own; the ISSO is not familiar with the services offered by the providers listed here, nor does it offer any recommendations.

- The Lemberg Children's Center, located on the Brandeis campus, provides childcare and developmentally oriented pre-school services for members of the Brandeis and Waltham communities. In addition, the Center is also a valuable resource for parents seeking further related information and advice.

- Finding a suitable Child Care provider can be a challenging and expensive task. This is especially true for infants and children under the age of 5. The following link, to the website of the Newton Childcare Commission, has a wealth of resources to put parents in touch with providers of infant and toddler child care, family day care, as well as pre-school programs. In addition, the website hosts links to other pertinent resources aimed at helping parents find and afford Child Care.

Newton is a neighboring town to Waltham, approximately four miles from Brandeis University.
