BOLLI and Brandeis:
Together Building Strong Communities of Learning

Brandeis
The University’s Registrar developed a new online registration system for BOLLI. Many members raved about the convenience.

BOLLI
Engages Brandeis undergraduates in inter-generational dialogue. At the ‘Deis Impact Festival, we took on the meaning of social justice.

Brandeis
The Provost provided a course on the Dead Sea Scrolls lead by PhD Candidate Jamie Bryson. 22 BOLLI members attended and enjoyed the course.

BOLLI
Employed Brandeis students for more than 500 hours, contributing almost $5,000 to the financing of the Brandeis undergraduate educational experience. Through the BOLLI Scholars Program and Brandeis Faculty Seminars, 13 graduate students gained real-world teaching experience and received more than $5,800 to help support their graduate education.

Brandeis
Professors Billy Flesch, Scott Edmiston, Sarah Lamb, Dan Breen and PhD candidates Jared Redmond and Gil Harel taught eight seminars and a total of 141 BOLLI members on topics ranging from jazz music to United States federalism.

BOLLI
Members served international students at the Heller School through the International Friends Program. 54 BOLLI members and 15 Brandeis Alumni hosted 79 international graduate students from across the globe. Many BOLLI members have remained friends with their “international friends” for years after their return to their home country.
