Broadcast Email Procedures

The Brandeis University Broadcast Email system is a tool disseminating messages through email. Broadcast emails are not authorized except as described herein.

The Broadcast Email System does not replace individual, school, or departmental address lists or mailing lists. These other methods are more appropriate for most announcements. The Broadcast Email System should only be used when a more limited mailing is not appropriate.

Purpose of these procedures

This policy serves three purposes: (1) identifying who may request and use the Broadcast Email System; (2) addressing the appropriate purposes of the Broadcast Email System; and (3) explaining the approval and scheduling process for broadcast emails.

Limitations of the system

The Broadcast Email System is available for the sending of messages that relate to university work or university information that is informational, urgent, or a formal notice to the campus, other than events. Events should be posted to the campus calendar at http://www.brandeis.edu/events/. (Only University wide events sponsored by the President’s Office are authorized for broadcast emails.) Most emails are more appropriate for department list serves.

Who can use the system?

The Broadcast Email System is available to any University unit (department, office, center, etc.) or recognized University organization. No emails will be sent without approval.

Approval of Messages/Requests

- Student-related messages are approved by the Senior Vice President for Students and Enrollment or his/her designated representative.
- Employee-related messages are approved by the Executive Vice President for Finance and Administration or his/her designated representative.
- Faculty-related messages are approved by the Provost or his/her designated representative.
• Messages to the entire University community must be approved by the Senior Vice President for Communications in collaboration with the Senior Vice President for Students and Enrollment, the Executive Vice President for Finance and Administration and the Provost or their respective designated representatives.

Required Message Format

1. A University unit or recognized organization requesting a broadcast email must supply a valid email address for the From email address. The From address must be a valid email address in the brandeis.edu domain.
2. No attachments are allowed to broadcast email messages. Messages should be brief. The message may refer to a web page with more detailed information.

Message Classification within the Broadcast Email System

There are three classes of broadcast email: Urgent, Formal Notice and Informational. The class of the message affects both the audience and the distribution schedule. The subject line of the message will indicate the selected class. Either URGENT:, FORMAL NOTICE:, or INFORMATIONAL: will appear as the prefix in the subject line according to the message classification.

Urgent Class

Urgent class is a category of broadcast emails reserved for highly important, time-sensitive campus emergency notices, such as security alerts. Messages in this class may be scheduled for immediate distribution as soon as properly approved. Urgent class messages are sent to all recipients designated by the University unit or recognized organization originating the email.

Formal Notice Class

Formal notice class is a category of broadcast emails reserved for highly important, non-emergency messages, such as federal reporting requirements or significant changes to university policy. Messages in this class are scheduled for off-peak distribution, after properly approved, between the requested run date and the expiration date of the message. There is no opt-out feature for recipients for this class of email. Formal notice messages are mailed to everyone designated as recipients by the University unit or recognized organization originating the email.

Informational Class

Informational class is a category of broadcast emails covering non-emergency messages related to University work or information, other than events. This includes messages on University strategy, initiatives and issues from the President’s Office. It also includes non-emergency public safety advisories.
Events

Events should be posted to the campus calendar at http://www.brandeis.edu/events/. The Broadcast email system is not the proper tool for notifying the campus community about the majority of department-sponsored events. Exceptions must be approved by the President’s Office and the Senior Vice President for Communications.

Disclaimer

In making its Broadcast Email Service available for use under this policy to persons or groups other than University administrative units, the University assumes no obligation or responsibility for the activities of the person or group. Further, the University reminds all broadcast email requesters to be aware of and comply with University policies and applicable laws, including those concerning safety, libel, slander, defamation, and obscenity.

Appeals

A person whose request to use the Broadcast Email System is not approved may appeal that decision to the Executive Vice President for Finance and Administration and Provost. All decisions shall be rendered promptly.
