

Those who nominated her for this award have said:

“She takes genuine care in each person’s personal development, and will craft curriculum and challenges unique to each person’s talents and skills. No matter who you are or what your skill level, she will find ways for you to improve your acting, not just to become a better actor, but to become a more self aware and compassionate human being. Her classes are about more than just acting; they are about learning to listen, to take risks, to overcome obstacles and grow as an artist and as an individual.”

“Her passion and love of theater is matched only by her dedication and commitment to her students. She makes herself available as a counselor, advisor and friend.”

“She loves life and art, and has helped her students fill their lives with art that they love.”