Required Texts:

P. A. Johnston, Traditio: An Introduction to the Latin Language and Its Influence (second edition, 1998).

P. A. Johnston, Workbook accompanying Traditio Chapters 1-9 (1998).

We will cover the first half of Traditio in Latin 10a, and in Latin 20b we will complete the text and begin reading the Latin authors. By the end of Latin 20b you will have learned Latin grammar in its entirety, and should be able to read the great Latin authors of the classical as those of later periods.

The grade in the course is based on three things:

- (1) daily performance in class and performance on weekly quizzes (40%),
- (2) two one-hour exams (20% each),
- (3) one one-hour final exam (20%).

Computer-Aided Instruction:

A computer program which will help you memorize verb forms, noun and adjective forms, and help you test yourself in various other ways, is available in the Feldberg Microcomputer Cluster. The program, called the Latin Tutor, is keyed to each chapter of your text, and will drill or test you on verbs, declensions, and vocabulary. You should plan to use this program at least once a week, especially during Latin 10a, since it will help you memorize the forms. If you have a DOS- or Windows based personal computer, you may download the software to use on your own PC from the web at www.pullins.com/ under "Latin Texts", and then "Traditio". (Alas, it is not MAC-compatible.)

Academic integrity is central to the mission of educational excellence at Brandeis University. The University policy on academic honesty is distributed annually as Section 3 of the Rights and Responsibilities Handbook. If you have any questions about this, please ask me.

If you are a student with a documented disability on record at Brandeis University and wish to request a reasonable accommodation made for you in this class, please see me immediately. Please keep in mind that reasonable accommodations are not provided retroactively. (To obtain a "student accommodation form", check with the Office of Academic Affairs.)
