Sunday, March 5
Capoeira lesson with Deraldo Ferreira
7:00 – 8:30 p.m., Shapiro Campus Center, Multipurpose Room, 2nd Floor
Participants should wear comfortable clothes and gym shoes/sneakers

Tuesday, March 7
“Drug Trafficking in Latin America and the Peace Process in Colombia”
See below for details

LALS Presents
“Punching Up: Comedy for the Resistance” a standup comedy by Marga Gomez
See below for details

Wednesday, March 8
Samba lesson/performance with Rosangela Santiago
5:00 – 6:30 p.m., ICC Lounge (top floor)

Thursday, March 9
Lecture on Brasilia by major art critic and lecturer José Falconi
3:30 PM–4:50 PM, Mandel Ctr for Humanities, G12
LALS and the Politics Department Present

“Drug Trafficking in Latin America and the Peace Process in Colombia”

A DISCUSSION WITH

Angelica Duran-Martinez, Assistant Professor of Political Science at UMass-Lowell, earned a PhD in political science at Brown University, a BA in political science from Universidad Nacional de Colombia and completed an MA in Latin American Studies at New York University. Her research focuses on the relations between organized crime, violence, and the state in Latin America, as well as the interconnections between democracy, rule of law, and citizen security. Her research in Colombia and Mexico received funding from the United States Institute of Peace (USIP), the Social Science Research Council and the Open Society Foundation.

Brian Fried is the Florence Levy Kay Fellow in Comparative Politics of the Developing World at Brandeis University. He received his Ph.D. in Political Science from Yale University, a BS in Economics from Duke University, and an MA in Political Science from the University of Chicago. His research interests include comparative politics, political economy, and development. His research in Brazil and Mexico has been funded by a Fulbright Hayes fellowship, the Institute for Social and Policy Studies at Yale University, and the National Science Foundation.

Tuesday, March 7 @ 4 PM
Olin Sang 207
Light supper to follow
Latin American and Latino Studies presents

“Punching Up : Comedy for the Resistance” a standup comedy by Marga Gomez

Tuesday

Mar 7

7:30pm

Wasserman Cinematheque
(International Business School)

Doors open at 7:00pm
Free with Brandeis ID

“Amazing… a lesbian Lenny Bruce”—Robin Williams
Comedian Marga Gomez is with us direct from her 2017 Off Broadway show "Latin Standards" (“Critic's Choice” New York Times) and her guest starring role on Netflix "Sense8." Gomez is a stand-up comedian with appearances on LOGO’s “One Night Stand,” Comedy Central’s “Out There,” and HBO’s “Comic Relief.” Gomez is also a GLAAD Award and LA Ovation Award winning writer/performer of 12 solo plays. Her website is margagomez.com

Generous co-sponsorship from Women and Gender Studies, American Studies, CAST major/minor, Theater, the Dean of Arts and Sciences, and the Dean of Student Life