STUDIED FRENCH?

THINKING OF LAW SCHOOL?

Consider McGill University Faculty of Law in Montreal, Quebec.

Students at McGill Law study in both French and English in our bilingual, bi-jural program and graduate with a bachelor of common law and bachelor of civil law.

McGill’s unique “transsystemic” model of legal education ensures that students gain a cosmopolitan understanding of the law, one that is not confined to specific jurisdictions, or even legal traditions. In a world of borderless human interaction, a pluralistic legal education is pivotal.

FOR MORE INFORMATION:
https://www.mcgill.ca/law-admissions/

Deadline to apply for Mature and University candidates: NOVEMBER 1