The Emperor’s New “Stories”: Telling "Truth" and Writing History in Early Medieval China

Lu Kou
Visiting Assistant Professor
Department of Asian Studies
Williams College

Lu Kou is a medievalist and a scholar of pre-modern Chinese literature. His research interests include medieval Chinese literature and culture, historiography, classical tales and their adaptations in vernacular genres and modern media, and comparative studies of Chinese Middle Period and medieval Europe (including Byzantium and Andalusian Spain).

Mandel Reading Room 303  Thursday, January 17, 2019  3:30 – 5:00 pm

This lecture is presented as part of the East Asian Studies Colloquium Series.
Co-sponsored by the Program in Comparative Literature and Culture

For more information, contact Professors Po Wang (pwang@brandeis.edu) or Matthew Fraleigh (fraleigh@brandeis.edu)