

Charles Nesson, William F. Weld Professor of Law at Harvard Law School, is founder of the Berkman Center for Internet & Society. He was television and seminar moderator for the Fred Friendly Seminars at Columbia University from 1974 to 1990, and moderator for the PBS series The Constitution: That Delicate Balance in 1986. Nesson served as defense attorney for Joel Tenenbaum, an undergrad at Boston University who was sued by Sony BMG over alleged illegal downloads. Additionally, Nesson is founder of the Jamaica Project, which seeks to bridge the technological, economic, and social disparities between nations through the use of the Internet.