

2009-2010 Undergraduate Department Representatives for Business

The UDR's serve as student representatives of the department, organize events for Business Minor students and provide feedback to faculty and staff. They are also available to provide information to Business minor and prospective Business minor students.

Danielle Shmuely – dandan7@brandeis.edu

Danielle is entering her senior year at Brandeis. While working to pursue her major concentrations in International and Global Studies (focus on Global Economy) and HSSP: Health, Science, Society, and Policy, and a minor concentration in Business, Danielle has also been an active member of the Brandeis community. Along with serving as this year's UDR for the Business Department, Danielle has served on the executive boards of the Brandeis Business Club (President of Women in Business), Chabad at Brandeis, and the Brandeis Orthodox Organization (Social Events Coordinator), and is Associate Justice of the Union Judiciary. Along with these leadership positions, Danielle is involved in advocating for various causes such as the Student Peace Alliance and Prevent Child Abuse. Danielle's focus is on international business and she recently got a taste of the international consulting industry while working for Mercer Consulting this past summer and has also had experience in the real estate industry. Danielle has participated in business conferences and has been selected as an attendee at this year's Princeton University Business Today Conference in New York City.

Sara Enan- sara90@brandeis.edu

Sara is entering her junior year at Brandeis. She is majoring in Economics and Mathematics with a minor concentration in Business. Sara is mainly interested in investment banking and has interned in many banks and treasury departments throughout the past few summers. She has been very active within the Brandeis community through her participation in a diversity of activities and leadership positions. Sara is also interested in marketing and has participated in many marketing related conferences in Egypt. This has enriched her knowledge in marketing and allowed her to gain numerous marketing skills.

Josh Bellet - jbellet@brandeis.edu

Josh is entering his senior year at Brandeis. He is majoring in Economics with a minor concentration in business. Josh is an active member of the Brandeis community. He is a Teaching Assistant in the economics department and is the co-president of the Brandeis University Investment Club. Along with these positions, Josh is also one of the coordinators for the Big Siblings program in the Waltham Group. Josh is mainly interested in investment banking, and has interned at various banks over the past two years. He spent the Spring 2009 semester studying abroad in London.