Brandeis University’s Division of Graduate Professional Studies offers ten part-time applied master’s programs and courses available fully online.

- Bioinformatics
- Digital Marketing & Design
- Health & Medical Informatics
- Information Security
- Information Technology
- Management
- Instructional Design & Technology
- Project & Program Management
- Software Engineering
- Strategic Analytics
- User Centered Design

Our mission is to extend the benefit of a Brandeis graduate education to a diverse working professional population by providing master’s degrees available part-time in applied fields. GPS academic programs, are designed for professionals who contribute unique perspectives from their experience and current work, thereby enriching the course offerings while broadening their communities of practice.

Becoming a Corporate Partner with Brandeis GPS means:

- A generous tuition discount for all employees on every course
- A corporate liaison and individualized attention
- Guaranteed placement into courses
- Direct billing options
- Unlimited career postings through Brandeis GPS
- Increased employee retention rate and reduced turnover

Contact Cara Chatellier for more information: cchatell@brandeis.edu

---

“As I progressed through the curriculum at Brandeis, my newfound knowledge was noticed and appreciated at work. At times, it even caused exclamations of surprise from my manager at my ability to clearly understand and troubleshoot technical issues that had stumped other members of our team.”

— Megan Olvera, M.S. in Information Security Graduate, 2015

---

Learning Online at Brandeis, Graduate Professional Studies

- Applied course activities mirror relevant skills needed in your field
- Industry-leading faculty create course content
- Small class sizes allow for individualized instruction and timely feedback
- Students and faculty engage in highly interactive online discussions
- Student Advisors provide personalized support
- Three ten-week terms in fall, spring and summer
- Our master’s degrees can be completed in 1.5 to 5 years