WHY BRANDEIS

- Earn your degree from a premiere research institution consistently ranked among the nation’s best universities.

- Benefit from widely recognized academic rigor, teaching excellence, and a quality and diverse student body.

- Take pride in the university’s commitments to social justice initiatives around the world, inspired by the legacy of the late Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis.

Programs with a pulse on your industry

Graduate Professional Studies is a division of the Rabb School, one of four graduate schools at Brandeis University. We have been applying best practices in online course delivery for more than a decade.

Designed for working professionals looking to advance their careers along with their educational goals, our online graduate programs are highly interactive, flexible and accessible.

Our curriculum captures the latest applied technologies and industry advancements while incorporating the rigorous standards of excellence that make Brandeis one of the top universities in the country.

“As an online learner at Brandeis GPS, I found the coursework and support resources convenient and accommodating. In fact, I rarely felt as though my studies were an interruption. What I learned was immediately applicable, and I continue every day to benefit from the understanding the courses gave me.”
— Scott Paddock, GPS Student
98 percent of alumni responding to our recent survey would recommend Brandeis GPS to colleagues.

OUR STUDENT BODY is a motivated, driven community of approximately 800 students representing 43 states and 13 countries.
