Focus on Careers:
ANCIENT GREEK AND ROMAN STUDIES

Ancient Greek and Roman Studies graduate study, housed within Brandeis' Classical Studies Department, provides a thorough understanding and appreciation of ancient cultures, with a unique application to today’s society. The program has a strong emphasis on research and communication skills that enhance marketability in careers in museums, libraries, education, and journalism. The program can also be used as a stepping-stone to a PhD in related areas.

POSSIBLE AREAS OF EMPLOYMENT

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Museums</th>
<th>Libraries</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Education</td>
<td>Foreign language teaching</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Government</td>
<td>Journalism</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Communications</td>
<td>Archives</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Business/industry</td>
<td>Art councils</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Historical societies</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

EMPLOYABILITY SKILLS

- Reasoning skills
- Language comprehension
- Ability to research, collate and analyze
- Critical evaluation skills
- Ability to work in teams and independently
- Understanding of challenging topics

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

To learn more about the field and career options in Ancient Greek and Roman Studies, please visit:

American Philological Association
apaclassics.org

The American Classical League
aclclassics.org

The Archaeological Institute of America
archaeological.org

The Classical Association of New England
caneweb.org

BEYOND BRANDEIS
GSAS alumni have gone on to a variety of careers including:

Latin Teacher – Pawtucket Regional Middle School

Latin, Greek, and History Teacher – Needham High School

History Teacher – Walsh Middle School

The Graduate School of Arts and Sciences' Career Services office helps you explore career options and acquire job-search skills while at Brandeis and as you prepare to enter the workforce.

Connect with us:
brandeis.edu/gsas/career   gsascareers@brandeis.edu