THE HORNSTEIN JEWISH PROFESSIONAL LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

The Hornstein Jewish Professional Leadership Program at Brandeis University combines intensive academics, field-based experiences, one-on-one mentoring and international travel to prepare visionary leaders for the Jewish community.

TWO ADVANCED DEGREES. ONE WORLD-CHANGING GOAL.
Over 21 months, all students earn a Master of Arts in Jewish Professional Leadership and one of the following:

• MBA (Master of Business Administration) from Brandeis’ Heller School for Social Policy and Management: prepare to lead organizations with a social mission.

• MPP (Master of Public Policy) from Brandeis’ Heller School for Social Policy and Management: become a leader, policy analyst and innovator equipped to make meaningful social change.

• MA in Near Eastern and Judaic Studies focusing on Jewish and Israeli history and society: prepare to lead educational or cultural organizations, or continue on to advanced academic work.

THE JOURNEY EXTENDS BEYOND THE CLASSROOM
A Hornstein education includes several experiential seminars — two in Israel, one in New York City and one in the former Soviet Union — as well as opportunities to network with established and emerging leaders from around the world.

HORNSTEIN STUDENTS GET GREAT JOBS
