Summer Program
May 29–August 3, 2012
10 weeks
Professor Elizabeth Ferry
12 credits (prerequisites: one anthropology course or permission from instructor)

PROGRAM OVERVIEW
Here is your chance truly to take the reins of your academic career. Learning along with your peers under the guidance of a professor, you will design and conduct an independent field research project of your own choosing in the Boston area. Learn and practice interview techniques, field note taking and management, and participant observation, all while exploring a topic you are passionate about. The final project will be tailored to your research and might be a proposal and chapter for a senior thesis, short video, website design, PowerPoint presentation, podcast, curriculum or other project.

CURRICULUM
Enroll in the first two courses:
ANTH 183aj Anthropological Inquiry
NEW! ANTH 181aj Ethnographic Research
And choose one of the following:
ANTH 98aj Individual Readings and Research in Anthropology
ANTH 99aj Senior Research

www.brandeis.edu/jbs

ABOUT JBS
JBS takes two methods of study — classroom training and experiential learning — and joins them in a unique curriculum that enables you to engage fully in a topic you are passionate about.

JBS ALLOWS YOU TO:
› earn 12–20 credits
› fulfill many university requirements
› build close relationships with faculty and peers
› engage with the community
› open avenues for internships
› expand your network
› acquire skills for your future

APPLICATION DEADLINE
March 16, 2012
Applications are reviewed on a rolling admissions basis until the closing deadline.

Financial aid is available.

“This learning environment is much more conducive to gaining fuller, more rooted knowledge, as it enables students to make personal connections with the course material.”

JBS summer 2010 student