

The BRANDEIS UNIVERSITY Russian Studies & Comparative Literature present:

VERA PAVLOVA

SEPTEMBER 15, 2011

1:00–2:30 PM

PEARLMAN LOUNGE

LIGHT LUNCH SERVED

PLEASE RSVP: LINDAB@BRANDEIS.EDU

VERA PAVLOVA is one of Russia's leading contemporary poets—her striking work and famous demeanor have established an iconic new voice of Russian poetry. Pavlova's poems are met with much critical acclaim and appear worldwide in twenty-one languages. Pavlova's work, with the help of translator Steven Seymour, has been featured in several renowned American publications including the New Yorker, The New York Times, Vogue and Opra.com.

For more information about the artist, please visit: <http://verapavlova.us/knopf.html>

For further information please contact Irina Dubinina, Director, Russian Language program at idubinin@brandeis.edu or x63223