Program in Religious Studies
Brandeis University
KRAFT-HIATT CHRISTIANITY LECTURE SERIES

MARCH 20, 2017

Kathleen Corley, Ph.D
3:30 – 4:50 pm
Lown 315

Kathleen Corley is a Professor of Religious Studies at the University of Wisconsin Oshkosh, where she teaches New Testament, Christianity, Gnosticism, and Women in Religion. Her publications include Private Women, Public Meals (1993); Women and the Historical Jesus (2002); Jesus and Mel Gibson’s The Passion of the Christ (2004); and Maranatha: Women’s Funerary Traditions and Christian Origins (2010).

HOW WOMEN INVENTED CHRISTIANITY

Her new work and lecture, “How Women Invented Christianity”, involves the role of women in the creation of nascent Christianity through funerary meals for the dead Jesus, visions of him in the context of their great grief, and story telling about his life, and especially his Passion or death.

Program in Religious Studies
Brandeis University

For more information,
www.brandeis.edu/programs/religious

For directions to Brandeis,
www.brandeis.edu/about/visiting/directions.html

Co-sponsored by the
Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies and Near Eastern and Judaic Studies with support from the Martin Weiner Fund