Join Idit Klein to learn how Jewish communities interpret the Bible, the Talmud, and other classical Jewish sources relevant to LGBT people. And how LGBT Jews are shaping the future of their communities.

Idit Klein is a longtime activist for social justice who has served as executive director of Keshet for the past 14 years. Keshet is a national organization working for the full equality and inclusion of LGBT Jews in Jewish life.

Mandel Professor of Jewish Education Research and co-founder of Keshet, Jonathan Krasner, will be the respondent.

Sponsored by the Kraft-Hiatt Fund, the Program in Religious Studies and the Feminist Sexual Ethics Project.
