On April 24, 2013, one of the largest industrial disasters ever recorded occurred in Bangladesh when the Rana Plaza factory collapsed, killing 1,100 people and injuring over 2,500. Professor Lamia Karim ’84 will talk about the aftermath of the disaster, including the rise of female-headed trade unions that are expanding the spectrum of rights.