Requirements for the Major

A. Required of all candidates: nine semester courses from among the AAAS and cross-listed courses below. One of the nine courses must be AAAS 5a [Introduction to African and Afro-American Studies], which should be taken as the first AAAS course, as it provides an introduction to themes and methods of analysis.

B. At least one course will be taken in each of the following areas: social science, humanities, and history.

C. At least four courses should constitute a field of specialization. Students may elect either [a] four courses in one of the following disciplines: literature, music, history, political science, sociology, and economics or [b] an interdisciplinary focus on Africa or Afro-American affairs. Students must confirm their choice of specialization with the department academic advisor.

D. Five of the nine required courses must be from within the department [e.g., from the AAAS courses below]. No course with a final grade below C– can count toward the major.

E. Candidates for departmental honors must satisfactorily complete AAAS 99d [Senior Research].

Requirements for the Minor

Five semester courses are required, including the following:

A. AAAS 5a [Introduction to African and Afro-American Studies]. This should be taken as the first AAAS course, as it provides an introduction to themes and methods of analysis.

B. One of the following: AAAS 70a [Introduction to Afro-American History], AAAS 79b [Afro-American Literature of the Twentieth Century], AAAS 115a [Introduction to African History], or AAAS 133b [The Literature of the Caribbean].

C. The remaining three courses will be selected from among the department’s offerings.

Students are required to declare the minor in AAAS no later than the beginning of their senior year. Each student will be assigned a departmental advisor by the undergraduate advising head.

liberal arts education.

with the contemporary world through firm grounding in a sound education of the way the United States, viewed as a civilization, frames the lives, aspirations, and self-perceptions of its citizens, and how Americans are seen by people around the world. Typically, students who enroll anticipate careers in law, business, public service, communications, education, museum work, and teaching at all levels. As the sponsor of the programs in legal studies, journalism, and environmental studies, the American studies major aims to provide a broad background to those areas and welcomes students who seek active engagement with the contemporary world through firm grounding in a sound liberal arts education.

How to Become a Major

Normally, students declare their major in their sophomore year and attempt to complete the three required courses (see below) by the end of the first semester of their junior year, or at the latest, the end of their junior year. Working with a departmental advisor, students are urged to develop a coherent selection of electives tailored to their particular interests and gifts. Because of the close working relationship between the department and its resident programs (law, journalism, and environmental studies), students often offer several courses in joint satisfaction of their major (American studies) and their program. Courses in other departments that satisfy American studies elective requirements are listed on the departmental Web site. Students wishing to earn departmental honors must write a senior thesis in a full-year course, AMST 99d. Special opportunities are available for supervised internships (AMST 92a,b), one-on-one readings courses (AMST 97a,b), and individually directed research courses (AMST 98a,b). Many majors gain a valuable cross-cultural perspective on America by studying abroad in their junior year.

AMST 187a The Legal Boundaries of Public and Private Life
[ ss ]
Confrontations of public interest and personal rights across three episodes in American cultural history: post–Civil War race relations, progressive-era economic regulation, and contemporary civil liberties, especially sexual and reproductive privacy. Critical legal decisions examined in social and political context. Usually offered every second year.
Mr. Gaskins

AMST 188b Justice Brandeis and Progressive Jurisprudence
[ ss ]
Brandeis’ legal career serves as model and guide for exploring the ideals and anxieties of American legal culture throughout the twentieth century. Focuses on how legal values evolve in response to new technologies, corporate capitalism, and threats to personal liberty. Usually offered every second year.
Mr. Gaskins

AMST 189a Legal Foundations of American Capitalism
[ ss ]
Surveys core legal institutions of property, contracts, and corporations. Examines how law promotes and restrains the development of capitalism and market society in America, from the era of mass production through the age of global trade and digital commerce. Usually offered every second year.
Mr. Gaskins

AMST 191b Greening the Ivory Tower: Researching and Improving the Brandeis Environment
[ ss oc ]
Uses the Brandeis campus as a model laboratory for applied environmental study, research, and implementation of student-designed campus environmental sustainability initiatives. This is a hands-on course in which students analyze the environmental impact of human activities within the existing legal, political, and social structure, learn basic research strategies for auditing and assessing the effect of these activities, and contribute to the overall understanding of the environmental impact of the Brandeis community on its surroundings. Usually offered every year.
Ms. Goldin

AMST 196d Film Workshop: Recording America
[ ss ]
Admission by consent of the instructor on the basis of an interview. It is preferred that students concurrently take an American studies course.
The training of students in video production to explore aspects of American urban society. Students should be prepared to create a documentary during this full-year course. Usually offered every year.
Mr. Felt
