10-WEEK, ONLINE COURSES OFFERED THROUGH GRADUATE PROFESSIONAL STUDIES (GPS) OPEN TO BRANDEIS SENIORS

This spring term there are six online graduate-level courses available to seniors. The courses are 10-week, online courses offered through Graduate Professional Studies (GPS), a Division of the Rabb School. Course descriptions may be found by clicking on the course title below.

Information on enrollment:

• Seniors may only enroll in one such course per term in the fall and spring.
• Space is limited, as Graduate Professional Studies has a cap on the number of seniors who may enroll in a given offering.
• Registered students will be required to complete an Online Orientation course before the start of the GPS term on January 20, 2016.

Additional information:

• The three-credit courses may be applied as general electives but not toward the major.
• Students who are interested in pursuing a master's degree with GPS in the future may apply credits received from these courses to a corresponding GPS degree program. This is a good opportunity to get a head-start earning credits towards a master's degree with GPS.

Courses available:

RHIN-110 Perspectives on Health/Medical Information Systems
RIDT-101 Principles of Online Instructional Design
RUCD-101 Innovation and User Centered Design
RSEG-120 Software Development Methodologies
RMGT-101 Perspectives on Information Technology
RIAS-101 Foundations of Information Security

How to enroll:

Bring a completed add/drop form to the Graduate Professional Studies office on Old South Street, open Monday through Friday 9am-5pm.
