

Brandeis University

April 15, 2016

Planned Agenda:

- To review and discuss the recent court decision and to discuss changes to Brandeis' policies and procedures that may need to occur.

The Title IX Task Force meetings include faculty, staff, and undergraduate and graduate students, and each member acts as a representative for their respective constituency. As such, each member has the authority to bring forward ideas and concerns to the Task Force. In this meeting, a graduate student identified the location of the meeting and decided to join the discussion. She shared her impressions of prevention efforts on campus and offered a critique of the work of the Task Force. Members asked her questions and thanked her for her input. Once she left, the Task Force used the time to discuss how Brandeis policies and procedures could be changed to maintain the integrity of our process while recognizing the concerns of the court.
