"A playwright and novelist, the son of Muslim immigrants from Pakistan explores his conflicted place in U.S. society in a searing work of autofiction...A profound and provocative inquiry into an artist’s complex American identity." Kirkus Review, September 15, 2020

"Pick up Homeland Elegies now and let's saunter through the cold winter days together with this book by our side. Come the week of January 25, we'll gather together as a community to share our individual insights and collective wisdom. We can't wait to hear what you have to say!"
