Johannes Brahms
Text by Frederich Schiller

Auch das Schöne muß sterben!
The beautiful, too, must die!
Das Menschen und Götter bezwinget,
That which subjugates men and gods
Nicht die eherne Brust rührt es does not stir the brazen heart of the des stygischen Zeus.
stygian Zeus.
Einmal nur erwachte die Liebe
Only once did love melt the den Schattenbeherrschers,
Lord of Shadows,
Und an der Schwelle noch, streng, and just at the threshold, he strictly rief er zurück sein Geschenk.
yanked back his gift.
Nicht stillt Aphrodite dem schönen
Aphrodite does not heal the Knaben die Wunde,
beautiful boy's wound,
Die in den zierlichen Leib grausam
which the boar ripped cruelly
der Eber geritzt.
in that delicate body.
Nicht errettet den göttlichen Held Neither does the immortal
die unsterbliche Mutter,
mother save the divine hero,
Wenn er, am skäischen Tor fallend,
when, falling at the Scaean Gate,
sein Schicksal erfüllt.
his fate.
Aber sie steigt aus dem Meer
She ascends from the sea with mit allen Töchtern des Nereus,
all the daughters of Nereus,
Und die Klage hebt an um den verherrlichten Sohn. Siehe, da weinen die Götter, es weinen die Göttinnen alle, daß das Schöne vergeht, daß das Vollkommene stirbt. Auch ein Klaglied zu sein im Mund der Geliebten, ist herrlich, denn das Gemeine geht klanglos zum Orkus hinab.

Fern Hill

Poem by Dylan Thomas

John Corigliano

Now as I was young and easy under the apple boughs
About the tilting house and happy as the grass was green,
The night above the dingle starry,
   Time let me hail and climb
Golden in the heydays of his eyes,
And honoured among wagons I was prince of the apple towns
And once below a time I lordly had the trees and leaves
   Trail with daisies and barley
Down the rivers of the windfall light.

And as I was green and carefree, famous among the barns
About the happy yard and singing as the farm was home,
   In the sun that is young once only,
Time let me play and be
Golden in the mercy of his means,
And green and golden I was huntsman and herdsman, the calves
Sang to my horn, the foxes on the hills barked clear and cold,
   And the sabbath rang slowly
In the pebbles of the holy streams.
All the sun long it was running, it was lovely, the hay
Fields high as the house, the tunes from the chimneys, it was air
   And playing, lovely and watery
   And fire green as grass.
   And nightly under the simple stars
As I rode to sleep the owls were bearing the farm away,
All the moon long I heard, blessed among stables, the nightjars
   Flying with the ricks, and the horses
   Flashing into the dark.

And then to awake, and the farm, like a wanderer white
With the dew, come back, the cock on his shoulder: it was all Shining, it was Adam and maiden, the sky gathered again
   And the sun grew round that very day.
So it must have been after the birth of the simple light
In the first, spinning place, the spellbound horses walking warm
   Out of the whinnying green stable
   On to the fields of praise.

And honoured among foxes and pheasants by the gay house
Under the new made clouds and happy as the heart was long,
   In the sun born over and over,
   I ran my heedless ways,
   My wishes raced through the house high hay
And nothing I cared, at my sky blue trades, that time allows
In all his tuneful turning so few and such morning songs
   Before the children green and golden
   Follow him out of grace.

Nothing I cared, in the lamb white days, that time would take me
Up to the swallow thronged loft by the shadow of my hand,
   In the moon that is always rising,
   Nor that riding to sleep
   I should hear him fly with the high fields
And wake to the farm forever fled from the childless land.
Oh as I was young and easy in the mercy of his means,
   Time held me green and dying
   Though I sang in my chains like the sea.
Deep River

Deep river, my home is over Jordan.
Deep river, Lord, I want to cross over into campground.
Oh, don't you want to go to that gospel feast?
That promised land, where all is peace?

Dominus Regnavit

Dominus regnavit!
Commovenantur populi, sedet super cherubim, moveatur terra!
Dominus in Sion magnus et excelsus super omnes populos! Confiteantur nomini tuo magno et terribili, quoniam sanctum est!

Exaltate Dominum Deum nostrum et adorate ad scabellum pedum eius, quoniam sanctus est!
Moyses et Aaron in sacerdotibus eius, et Samuel inter eos, qui invocant nomen eius. Invocabant Dominum, et ipse exaudiebat eos, in columna nubis loquebatur ad eos.

Custodiebant testimonia eius et praeceptum, quod dedit illis!
Exaltate Dominum Deum nostrum et adorate ad montem sanctum eius, quoniam sanctus Dominus Deus noster. Alleluia!

Levente Gyöngyösi

Psalm 99

The Lord reigns!
Let the people tremble; he sits between the cherubim; let the earth be moved!
The Lord is great in Zion; and he is high above all the people. Let them praise his great and terrible name for it is holy.

Exult the Lord our God and worship at his footstool; for he is holy!
Moses and Aaron among his priests and Samuel among them that call upon his name; they called upon the Lord, and he answered them. He spoke unto them in the cloudy pillar.

They kept his testimonies, and the ordinance that he gave them.
Exalt the Lord our God, and worship at his holy hill; for the Lord our God is holy.
Alleluia!
My Heart Be Brave

Marques L.A. Garrett

Poem by James Weldon Johnson

My heart be brave, and do not falter so,
Nor utter more that deep, despairing wail.
Thy way is very dark and drear I know,
But do not let thy strength and courage fail;
For certain as the raven-winged night
Is followed by the bright and blushing morn,
Thy coming morrow will be clear and bright;
’Tis darkest when the night is furthest worn.
Look up, and out, beyond, surrounding clouds,
And do not in thine own gross darkness grope,
Rise up, and casting off thy hind’ring shrouds,
Cling thou to this, and ever inspiring hope:
Tho’ thick the battle and tho’ fierce the fight,
There is a power [in] making for the right.

Four Shakespeare Songs

Texts by William Shakespeare

Come Away, Death (Twelfth Night II: 4)

Come away, come away, death,
And in sad cypress let me be laid.
Fly away, fly away, breath;
I am slain by a fair cruel maid.
My shroud of white, stuck all with yew,
O, prepare it!
My part of death, no one so true
Did share it.

Not a flower, not a flower sweet,
On my black coffin let there be strown.
Not a friend, not a friend greet
My poor corpse, where my bones shall be thrown.
A thousand thousand sighs to save,
Lay me, O, where
Sad true lover never find my grave,
To weep there!
Lullaby (A Midsummer Night’s Dream II: 2)

You spotted snakes with double tongue, Thorny hedgehogs, be not seen, newts and blindworms, do no wrong, Come not near our fairy queen.

Philomele, with melody, sing in our sweet lullaby; Lulla, lulla, lullaby; lulla, lulla, lullaby; Never harm, nor spell, nor charm, come our lovely lady nigh. So good night, with lullaby.

Weaving spiders, come not here; Hence, you long-legged spinners hence! Beetles black, approach not near; Worm nor snail, do no offense.

Philomele, with melody, sing in our sweet lullaby; Lulla, lulla, lullaby; lulla, lulla, lullaby; Never harm, nor spell, nor charm, come our lovely lady nigh. So good night, with lullaby.

Double, Double Toil and Trouble (Macbeth IV: 1)

Thrice the brinded cat hath mew’d. Thrice and once, the hedge-pig whin’d. Harpier cries:— ’tis time! ’tis time!

Round about the caldron go; In the poison’d entrails throw. — Toad, that under cold stone, Days and nights has thirty-one; Swelter’d venom sleeping got, Boil thou first i’ the charmed pot!

Double, double toil and trouble; Fire burn, and caldron bubble.

Fillet of a fenny snake, In the caldron boil and bake; Eye of newt, and toe of frog, Wool of bat, and tongue of dog, Adder’s fork, and blind-worm’s sting,
Lizard's leg, and owlet's wing,—
For a charm of powerful trouble,
Like a hell-broth boil and bubble.

Double, double toil and trouble;
Fire burn, and caldron bubble.

Scale of dragon; tooth of wolf;
Witches' mummy; maw and gulf
Of the ravin'd salt-sea shark;
Root of hemlock digg'd i the dark;
Liver of a caribou;
Gall of goat, and slips of yew
Sliver'd in the moon's eclipse;
Nose of Turk, and Tartar's lips;
Finger of birth-strangled babe
Ditch-deliver'd by a drab,—
Make the gruel thick and slab:
Add thereto a tiger's chaudron,
For the ingredients of our caldron.

Double, double toil and trouble;
Fire burn, and caldron bubble.

By the pricking of my thumbs,
Something wicked this way comes.
Open, locks, whoever knocks!

Full Fathom Five (The Tempest I: 2)

Full fathom five thy father lies;
Of his bones are coral made;
Those are pearls that were his eyes:
Nothing of him that doth fade,
But doth suffer a sea-change
Into something rich and strange.
Sea-nymphs hourly ring his knell:
    Ding-dong.
Hark! now I hear them,—ding-dong, bell.
Abendlied, Op. 69, No. 3

Josef Rheinberger

Text from Gospel of Luke 24, 29

Bleib bei uns

denn es will Abend werden

und der Tag hat sich geneigt.

Remain with us

For evening is coming and the day is finished.

---

Der Abend, Op. 64, No. 2

Johannes Brahms

Text by Friedrich von Schiller

Senke, strahlender Gott,

die Fluren dürsten

Nach erquickendem Tau,

der Mensch verschmachtet,

Matter ziehen die Rosse,

senke den wagen hinab.

Let it sink, radiant God,

the fields thirst

for refreshing dew;

the people languish,

the steeds are weary-

let the chariot sink down!

---

Siehe, wer aus des Meeres krystallner

Woge lieblich lächelnd

dir winkt!

Erkennt dein Herz sie?

Rascher fliegen die Rosse.

Thetys, die göttliche, winkt.

Behold the one who beckons you,

sweetly smiling, from the sea’s

crystalline wave!

Does your heart recognize her?

Faster fly the steeds;

Thetys, the divine one, beckons.

---

Schnell vom Wagen herab

in ihre Arme springt der Führer.

Den Zaum ergreift Kupido.

Stille halten die Rosse,

Trinken die kühlende Flut.

The driver leaps quickly from the chariot into her arms.

Cupid seizes the reins;

the steeds stand still and drink at the cooling stream.

---

Auf dem Himmel herauf mit leisen

Schritten kommt die duftende Nacht;

ihr folgt die süsse Liebe.

Ruht und liebet!

Phöbus, der Liebende, ruht.

Ascending in the sky with quiet steps

comes the fragrant night;

sweet love follows.

Rest and love!

Phoebus, the loving one, rests.
Fourteen Angels

When at night I go to sleep,
Fourteen angels watch to keep;
Two my head are guarding,
Two my feet are guiding,
Two are on my right hand,
Two are on my left hand.

Fourteen angels watch do keep;
Two who cover me,
Two who wake me,
And two who sing me into paradise.

Abide

Forgive me if I forget with the birdsong and the day’s last glow folding into the hands of the trees, forgive me the few syllables of the autumn crickets,
the year’s last firefly winking
like a penny in the shoulder’s weeds, if I forget the hour, if I forget the day as the evening star pours out its whiskey over the gravel and asphalt I’ve walked for years alone, if I startle
when you put your hand in mine,
if I wonder how long your light has taken to reach me here.

Laudate Dominum

Laudate Dominum, laudate eum!
In excelsis, omnes stellae lucentes!

Laudate Dominum, omnes virtutes eius,
sol et luna, alleluia!
About the Artists

The Brandeis University Chorus is a large mixed choir that includes members from the entire Brandeis community including undergraduate and graduate students, faculty and staff. It performs great and enduring music from the vast classic Western tradition, a cappella and accompanied. Annually, The University Chorus leads the community in Messiah Sing every December in the Atrium of the Shapiro Student Center.

The Brandeis Chamber Singers are comprised of full-time, undergraduate music and non-music major students committed to innovative and quality performances and community outreach through choral music. Repertoire of the ensemble includes both a cappella and accompanied music from Western and Non-Western vocal traditions. Members of this ensemble concertized in France May 23-30, 2022.

Robert Duff, conductor, is in his eighth year at Brandeis University as Associate Professor of the Practice of Choral Music. At Brandeis University, he oversees the vocal program, conducts the Brandeis choral ensembles, teaches conducting and serves as the performance track advisor to vocalists and as Undergraduate Advising Head for the Music Department. Duff also is the Director of Music at Saint Cecilia Church in Boston, and has served on the faculties of Dartmouth College, Pomona College, Claremont Graduate University and Mount St. Mary’s College. He holds degrees in conducting, piano, and voice from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, Temple University, and the University of Southern California, and is the Past President of the Eastern Division of the American Choral Directors Association.

Grace Spicuzza, keyboard collaborative artist, is a collaborative pianist and vocal coach working in the greater Boston area. As a staff accompanist, she works with vocal and instrumental students at Boston Conservatory at Berklee and the choral ensembles at Brandeis University. When not working with college students, you can find her performing in recitals with professional classical vocalists and young violinists’ recitals.

Over the past year, Grace has had the pleasure of playing with the Brookline Symphony Orchestra, the Sudbury Savoyards to perform a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, and Opera Susquehanna Summer Festival to present two operas by Puccini. She also enjoys collaborating on new compositions with local composers.

One of Grace’s deepest joys is to form a three-way connection between performers, audience, and the music. This guides every step of her preparation. When that connection happens in concert, it is an almost spiritual experience that leaves everyone saying, ‘That was something special.’

Grace holds a Masters of Music in Collaborative Piano from Boston Conservatory at Berklee. You can discover more about her by visiting MusicByGraceEvelyn.com.

Eoin Clark, keyboard collaborative artist, Eoin Clark is a sought-after collaborative pianist in the Boston area simultaneously navigating both the instrumental and vocal worlds in a series of recitals. A native of Alabama, he made his debut at the age of sixteen with the Montgomery Symphony Orchestra and Shoals Symphony Orchestra. Recent instrumental engagements include serving as collaborative pianist at Music for Salem’s 2021 and 2022 seasons and as an Artist in Residence during the 2022 season of pianoSonoma. Recent vocal engagements include serving as rehearsal pianist for the Promenade Opera Project’s 2020-2021 seasons which included a virtual production of Beethoven’s Fidelio. He is currently on staff as an accompanist at the Boston Conservatory of Music where he regularly works with Sara Goldstein, Frank Kelley, and Markus Placci. Eoin received his M.M. at the Boston Conservatory of Music at Berklee studying with Jessica Shinn and his B.M. at Boston University under the tutelage of Maria Clodes-Jaguaribe and Jonathan Bass. He has also earned certificates in the French language at the Stendhal Université de Grenoble in southern France. He is currently earning his second M.M. at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst studying esteemed pianist Gilles Vonsattel.

Katherine Maysek, mezzo-soprano, Known for her vivid and touching vocal performances, Boston native mezzo-soprano Katherine Maysek is an artist equally at home on the stage and in the concert hall.

Katherine debuted with the the Boston Symphony Orchestra with maestro Andris Nelsons in 2019. Local collaborations include Emmanuel Music, Odyssey Opera, the Newburyport Choral Society and the Boston Lyric Opera.

Ms. Maysek was a “standout” (The Wall Street Journal) as Cherubino in John Corigliano’s The Ghosts of Versailles at The Glimmerglass Festival.
She reprised the role in her European debut at the Château de Versailles Spectacles. Katherine made her Carnegie Hall debut with the American Symphony Orchestra in a rare production of Max von Shillings’ Mona Lisa.

Katherine has appeared with the Des Moines Metro Opera, Tanglewood Music Center, Odyssey Opera, Opera Saratoga and the Berkshire Opera Festival. Katherine received her bachelors degree from McGill University and her masters degree from Bard College Conservatory’s Graduate Vocal Arts Program.

Highly acclaimed classical guitarist John Muratore performs regularly as a solo recitalist, concerto soloist and chamber musician. As a solo artist he has appeared extensively throughout the United States, Canada, Europe and Russia. He has collaborated with numerous chamber ensembles including Emmanuel Music, the Spectrum Singers, Chorus Pro Musica, Alea III, Boston Musica Viva and Counterpoint. Recent appearances as concerto soloist have been with the Ridgefield Symphony, Vermont Symphony and Symphony by the Sea under the direction of Jonathan McPhee.

Among the composers with whom John has worked closely to produce new solo and chamber works for the guitar are Daniel Pinkham, Scott Wheeler, Larry Bell, Roger Zahab and Jon Appleton. Mr. Muratore has been the featured soloist at numerous international venues including the Academie Festival des Arcs (France), St. Petersburg (Russia) Chamber Concerts, the Atelier International Concert Series in Paris and AIMS (American Institute for Musical Studies, Graz, Austria).

The Boston Globe has described him as “a fleet-fingered and musicianly performer” and has characterized his playing as...”unleashing so many different varieties of tone and color in quick succession...a kind of aural iridescence.” John, whose live performances have often been featured on NPR, WGBH Radio’s Classical Performances has recorded for Albany, Pont Nuef and Arabesque Records. His most recent CD, Domenie, is a collaboration with accordionist Roberto Cassan. His critically-acclaimed solo CD, Shadow Box, has been hailed by Britain’s Classical Guitar magazine as ‘a fine recording, with serious intent’, and his most recent offering, Noël- A Classical Guitar Christmas, has been listed by CD Baby as one of the top-selling Holiday-Classical albums for 2012. Mr. Muratore is on the faculty at Boston University, Dartmouth College and is coordinator of the guitar program at the All Newton Music School.
Daniel Padgett, keyboard collaborative artist, currently serves as a staff pianist at Brandeis University and the Berklee College of Music. He is highly regarded in classical and musical theater circles in the Boston area. This year saw the release of Afloat, an album of original piano and electronic instrumentals. An in-demand church musician, he has participated in the music ministries of numerous congregations throughout New England. Daniel holds degrees in music from Florida State University and the Longy School of Music of Bard College.
