

IMAGINING FREEDOM: CREATING JUSTICE

A series of salons at The Rose Art Museum hosted by:
LaShawn Simmons '18 and Artist-in-Residence Jane Wilburn Sapp

Sick and Tired Of Being Sick and Tired

Thursday, October 13
6-8 PM
Lee Gallery
Rose Art Museum

Come share your impressions of the works currently on view at the Lee Gallery: What stands out for you in these works? What words, phrases, images, and questions do they stir in you?

Based on our discussions, we will create spoken word pieces and a song with Jane Sapp.

Creating Art, Seeking Justice

Tuesday, October 18
5-8 PM

Part I: 5-6 PM
Lurias, Hassenfeld

Come meet the Creativity, the Arts, and Social Transformation Minors!
Refreshments will be served.

Part II: 6-8 PM
Rose Art Museum

How does art-making contribute to social justice?
Come share your poetry,
stories, dance, visual arts, and music related to this topic (even if unfinished) and get feedback!

Feel free to join one or both parts!

Staging Social Change

Tuesday, November 1, 6-8 PM
Rose Art Museum

How does performance create platforms for exploring challenging issues? Jane Sapp and LaShawn Simmons '18 will lead participants in performing, witnessing and discussing a series of monologues and songs, staged in different locations throughout the museum.

Sponsored by the Program in Peacebuilding and the Arts and the minor in Creativity, the Arts, and Social Transformation, the International Center for Ethics, Justice, and Public Life, the Rose Art Museum, the Division of Creative Arts, and the Arts | Race | Activism Series with the support of the Brandeis Arts Council
