Art With Impact promotes mental wellness by creating space for young people to learn and connect through art and media.

OhCHR opens a call for input for the Special Rapporteur's report on cultural, economic, social, and educational rights in Mali and gender-based violence (GBV) in Mali and quilters in the Global North. Under the initiative, the Platform 4 Dialogue, a relationship between leading think tanks and a project of the United Nations Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR), and the CorpNet of the Central Bank of Colombia) and her colleagues convened a prominent meeting in Geneva and Zurich to discuss the current situation.

Conflict Transformation (IMPACT) was present at the conference in several significant ways. Angela Perez Mejia (a member of the IMPACT Leadership Circle), and her colleagues were there to discuss the collection of work that had been made during the Designing Spaces initiative during the previous 1 year. They discuss the idea of putting armed conflict on lockdown and focus on the true fight of our time: health, education, culture, and the right to life. The conference provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe.

The conference also provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe. Angela Perez Mejia (a member of the IMPACT Leadership Circle), and her colleagues were there to discuss the collection of work that had been made during the Designing Spaces initiative during the previous 1 year. They discuss the idea of putting armed conflict on lockdown and focus on the true fight of our time: health, education, culture, and the right to life. The conference provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe.

IMPACT was present at the conference in several significant ways. Angela Perez Mejia (a member of the IMPACT Leadership Circle), and her colleagues were there to discuss the collection of work that had been made during the Designing Spaces initiative during the previous 1 year. They discuss the idea of putting armed conflict on lockdown and focus on the true fight of our time: health, education, culture, and the right to life. The conference provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe.

The conference also provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe. Angela Perez Mejia (a member of the IMPACT Leadership Circle), and her colleagues were there to discuss the collection of work that had been made during the Designing Spaces initiative during the previous 1 year. They discuss the idea of putting armed conflict on lockdown and focus on the true fight of our time: health, education, culture, and the right to life. The conference provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe.

The conference also provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe. Angela Perez Mejia (a member of the IMPACT Leadership Circle), and her colleagues were there to discuss the collection of work that had been made during the Designing Spaces initiative during the previous 1 year. They discuss the idea of putting armed conflict on lockdown and focus on the true fight of our time: health, education, culture, and the right to life. The conference provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe.

The conference also provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe. Angela Perez Mejia (a member of the IMPACT Leadership Circle), and her colleagues were there to discuss the collection of work that had been made during the Designing Spaces initiative during the previous 1 year. They discuss the idea of putting armed conflict on lockdown and focus on the true fight of our time: health, education, culture, and the right to life. The conference provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe.

The conference also provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe. Angela Perez Mejia (a member of the IMPACT Leadership Circle), and her colleagues were there to discuss the collection of work that had been made during the Designing Spaces initiative during the previous 1 year. They discuss the idea of putting armed conflict on lockdown and focus on the true fight of our time: health, education, culture, and the right to life. The conference provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe.

The conference also provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe. Angela Perez Mejia (a member of the IMPACT Leadership Circle), and her colleagues were there to discuss the collection of work that had been made during the Designing Spaces initiative during the previous 1 year. They discuss the idea of putting armed conflict on lockdown and focus on the true fight of our time: health, education, culture, and the right to life. The conference provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe.

The conference also provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe. Angela Perez Mejia (a member of the IMPACT Leadership Circle), and her colleagues were there to discuss the collection of work that had been made during the Designing Spaces initiative during the previous 1 year. They discuss the idea of putting armed conflict on lockdown and focus on the true fight of our time: health, education, culture, and the right to life. The conference provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe.

The conference also provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe. Angela Perez Mejia (a member of the IMPACT Leadership Circle), and her colleagues were there to discuss the collection of work that had been made during the Designing Spaces initiative during the previous 1 year. They discuss the idea of putting armed conflict on lockdown and focus on the true fight of our time: health, education, culture, and the right to life. The conference provided an opportunity to hear the experiences of others and to connect with colleagues around the globe.