

OPEN SOURCE TECHNOLOGY MANAGEMENT

Endorsed by:

The online Open Source program at Brandeis University is dedicated to enhancing and supporting the OSS community through content that is founded in the principles of software freedom and collaborate development.

OPTION 1: TAKE A MICRO-COURSE

Take a single four-week online micro-course*:

- Open Source Business Practices
- Establish an Open Source Program Office
- Cultivate an Open Source Community
- Integrating Open Source Communities in Corporate Environments
- Open Source Workflow and Infrastructure
- Production of Distributed Open Source Software

*$499 per micro-course

OPTION 2: COLLECT DIGITAL BADGES

Complete two micro-courses in a given topic area and earn a digital badge* for your LinkedIn profile and/or email signature:

The Business of Open Source

Open Source Business Practices
Establish an Open Source Program Office

Open Source Community Development

Cultivate an Open Source Community
Integrating Open Source Communities in Corporate Environments

Open Source Development Fundamentals

Open Source Workflow and Infrastructure
Production of Distributed Open Source Software

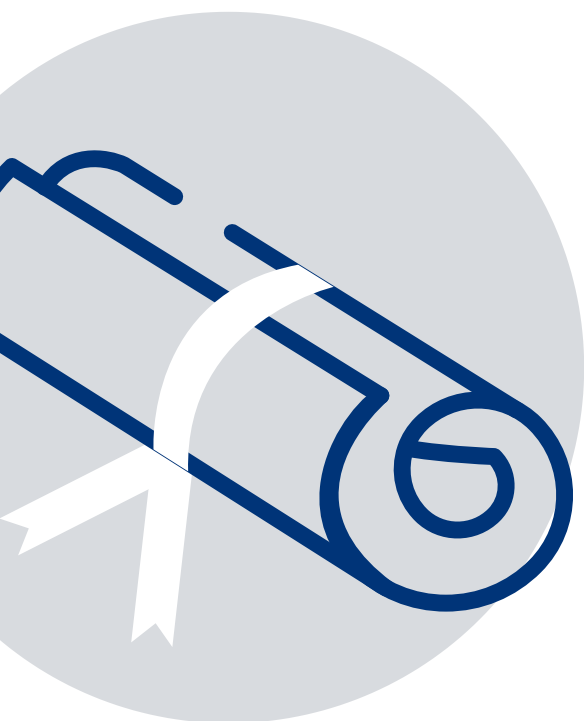

*At no additional cost

OPTION 3: EARN A CERTIFICATE

Complete all six micro-courses and receive a certificate* in Open Source Technology Management from Brandeis University.

*At no additional cost

OPTION 4: INVEST IN GRADUATE CREDIT

After earning a digital badge, complete a two-week assessment to earn three credits (one course) towards a master's degree.*

*$990 per assessment; 15% discount for OSI members

