

HBI UNDERGRADUATE GRANT IN JEWISH GENDER STUDIES

HBI announces our first undergraduate grant in Jewish Gender Studies. Up to $500 will be given each fall to a Brandeis undergraduate to support a research project in the field of Jewish Gender Studies.

Stipend and Duties

The grant is designed to fund original research using the library, laboratory, community, or travel expenses related to attending a conference related to your research topic.

Eligibility

Undergraduate students in all years and all disciplines may apply, though the project must focus on a question of significance to the field of Jewish women's and gender studies. Research proposals connected with senior projects or theses are eligible.

Completed Application Includes:

- This application cover sheet signed by a faculty advisor after review
- Transcript and resume/CV
- Abstract: no more than fifty words, outlining proposed project and expected outcome
- Bibliography: one-page bibliography of the literature and/or archival holdings to be consulted
- Itemization of proposed research costs
- Description of project: A two-page description of the project including:
 - critical issues covered by your research
 - method, research design or procedure
 - importance of this research to your field
 - how it examines Jewish women's and gender scholarship
 - how the grant will impact your research

Evaluation

Applications are evaluated on the basis of the following criteria:

- Strength and coherency of the research project's presentation
- Project's significance and original contribution to the field of Jewish gender studies
- Student's demonstrated knowledge of relevant research sources and skills required to perform research (i.e. skills in quantitative methods, knowledge of foreign language, etc.)
- Proposed budget is justifiable and accurately represents project design and purpose
