

Brandeis University Online Hebrew Classes

Hebrew 10: Beginning Hebrew Asynchronous Class:

For students with no previous knowledge and those with a minimal background. Intensive training in the basics of Hebrew grammar, listening comprehension, speaking, reading, and writing. 4 university academic credit.

Hebrew 20: Intermediate Hebrew Asynchronous Class:

Continuation of the beginning Hebrew course, employing the same methods. Intensive training in Hebrew grammar, listening comprehension, speaking, reading, and writing. 4 university academic credit.

Both courses are taught asynchronously, which means there is no designated day or time assigned to the course (although there is one optional synchronous session with the instructor, as well as virtual office hours or discussion groups).

Student Testimonials

Attending the online beginner Hebrew summer course at Brandeis University has really pushed me to take initiative in a way I had not previously experienced as a high school student. Even though the course is asynchronous, there are still many opportunities to speak with the professor and with my classmates.

I have learned more from this class than I have learned from any other university language course. The online modality of the course made it very easy to progress at my own speed and take the time I needed to take in the language. I would recommend this course to anyone interested in Hebrew language and culture.

Contact Guy Antebi: antebi@brandeis.edu