

Dionysian mysteries in Fernando Ortiz and Abdias do Nascimento. From Cuban Ñáñigo rites to Afro-Brazilian theater.

Gustavo Herrera Díaz is a Ph.D. Candidate in Latin American Literature and Culture at The Pennsylvania State University. He holds a B.A. in Spanish and Classics from Universidad de La Habana and an M.A. in Spanish Literature from The Pennsylvania State University. His research interests include Classical reception in Latin American literature, Latin American theater, media and performance studies, and Afro-diasporic cultures in Brazil and the Caribbean. His scholarly articles have appeared in Revista de Estudios Hispánicos, The Bulletin of Hispanic Studies, Revista Universidad de La Habana, and Aletria: Revista de Estudos de Literatura, among other publications. His most recent research focuses on the intersection of Classical Greek and African cultural systems as they appear in Latin American performances.

Wednesday, February 1, 2023 at 4:05 p.m.

Location TBA

Presented by the Department of Romance Studies (ROMS) and the Latin American, Caribbean and Latinx Studies (LACLS) Program.