

Brandeis UNIVERSITY

running start

The Politics Department Presents #ElectHer

Sunday, April 3, 1–3:40 PM
On Zoom

Please join us for a half-day nonpartisan training for women and nonbinary students on how to run for student government and political office. Participants will consider their own candidacy, discuss the importance of women and nonbinary people running for office, examine issues they care about, map out support networks, craft elevator speeches, learn about campaign strategy, hear from incredible speakers who have run for office, and more. You may register and nominate someone to participate in this event by visiting the Brandeis Politics Department's events web page (<https://www.brandeis.edu/politics/news-events/events.html>).

This workshop is free. Goodie bags and snack will be available that morning.

Email Jill Greenlee at greenlee@brandeis.edu with any questions

co-sponsored by: The School of Arts and Sciences Co-Curricular Fund, The Gordon Center for American Public Policy, AAAS, Sociology, and WGS.