Russian and East European Studies

Objectives

The program in Russian and East European studies (REES) provides undergraduates with a curricular framework for the interdisciplinary study of Russia, the former Soviet Union, and East Europe. This interdisciplinary study offers a special breadth and depth of understanding for this region and leads students to appreciate the interconnectedness of Russian and East European history, economics, politics, and culture. The complementary study allows participating students to achieve an understanding of this world region not otherwise available in existing majors and minors in the traditional disciplines. REES further maintains the extracurricular objective of hosting and facilitating special events concerning Russia and East Europe: presentations by visiting scholars, cultural events, and other learning activities. The program serves any interested undergraduates wishing to complement their major course of study; social science majors with an interest in the area and majors in Russian language and literature are encouraged to consider becoming program participants.

How to Become a Minor

Interested students who have no background in Russian or any other East European language are advised to begin language training (with RUS 10a) in their first year. Appropriate placement of those with some knowledge of Russian can be arranged by consultation with the Department of German, Russian, and Asian Languages and Literature. Progress toward the minor will also be facilitated by early enrollment (usually in the sophomore year) in HIST 147a (Imperial Russia).

Russian Language and Literature

Courses of Study:
Minor
Major (BA)

Objectives

The Russian program at Brandeis offers students unique opportunities for the study of Russian language, culture, and literature. Our courses enable students to reach intermediate to advanced levels of language proficiency and attain a strong background in Russian culture and literature. Majors, especially track I students, are encouraged to study in Russia for a semester or a summer. Links to approved Brandeis semester programs in Russia can be found on the department Web site at www.brandeis.edu/departments/grall.

Undergraduate Major and Minor

Our core curriculum features courses in language, culture, and literature open to all students. Literature courses focusing on the classics of the nineteenth century are augmented by seminars on poetry and contemporary authors. Most of our literature courses are taught in English in order to make them accessible to a broad range of students. Bilingual students and advanced students of Russian may choose to do course readings in Russian. Language courses are taught exclusively in Russian. Grammar is presented in communicative contexts incorporating authentic multimedia materials. Our curriculum also includes courses on film, contemporary culture, and East European literature.

Bilingual students interested in Russian language study are encouraged to consult with the language coordinator to determine the appropriate course of study. Students may wish to broaden a major by combining it with a minor in Russian and East European studies (REES), a separate interdisciplinary program.

Faculty

See the Department of German, Russian, and Asian Languages and Literature.

Brandeis offers a host of extracurricular opportunities for majors, minors, and students interested in Russian language and culture. The Department of German, Russian, and Asian Languages and Literature also sponsors regular functions for Russian students, including film series, lectures, and Russian tea hours featuring Russian-language conversation for students of all levels. Many activities for those interested in Russian language and culture are organized by and for students. We are proud to host one of the few Russian-language radio shows in the Boston. The Russian Club at Brandeis actively sponsors events for Russian students and Russian speakers in the Greater Boston community, including Russian-language film series, dances, and mailings about events in the Boston area.

How to Become a Major or a Minor

Students considering a Russian major or minor should complete the language requirement as soon as possible. Students who wish to discuss the two major tracks or issues of language placement should speak with the Russian language coordinator.

A major in Russian may obtain the Massachusetts teaching certificate at the high school level by additionally completing requirements of the education program. Interested students should meet with the program director.

Requirements for the Major

- A. ECS 100a or ECS 100b (European Cultural Studies: The Proseminar) to be completed no later than the junior year.
- B. Advanced language and literature study: RUS 105a, 150b, and 153a.
- C. Literature study: Any five RECS courses, which may include the cross-listed courses below.
- D. Majors wishing to graduate with departmental honors must enroll in and complete RUS 99d (Senior Thesis), a full-year course. Before enrolling, students should consult with the coordinator. Candidates for departmental honors must have a 3.50 GPA in Russian courses previous to the senior year. Honors are awarded on the basis of cumulative excellence in all courses taken in the major and the grade on the honors thesis. One semester of the senior thesis may be counted toward the five required RECS courses.

Requirements for the Minor

- A. Advanced language study: RUS 105a.
- B. Literature Study in Russian: RUS 150b or RUS 153a.
- C. Literature study: Any three RECS courses, which may include the cross-listed courses below.
